One Is Different Than The Other…

How can Vivek Ramaswamy ask Ohio to trust his judgment when he cannot recognize the moral bankruptcy of using a childhood sexual abuse survivor's estranged mother to call her a liar?

Amy Acton's trauma is not campaign ammunition, and surviving abuse is not a character flaw. Exploiting it reveals a staggering failure of judgment in the man asking to govern us.

Anyone seeking that responsibility should possess the basic decency to know that some lines must never be crossed—even to win an election.

Ohio deserves a governor whose conscience is stronger that his ambition.

Ten reasons to vote for Amy Acton

1. Fund our public schools. She supports implementing the bipartisan Fair School Funding Plan.

2. Demand voucher accountability. She wants transparency and reform in how public dollars fund private schools.

3. Protect collective bargaining. She pledges to fight attacks on workers' ability to negotiate.

4. Keep Ohio from becoming a right-to-work state. She supports strong unions.

5. Feed Students. She supports free school breakfast and lunch because hungry children cannot learn.

6. Lower health care costs. Her agenda targets prescription prices and burdensome medical debt.

7. Give working families breathing room. She proposes tax relief and action on rising household costs.

8. Prepare students for good careers. She supports workforce training that gives Ohio students the skills to build a future here at home.

9. Confront corruption. She proposes strong ethics rules, transparent contracts, and oversight of political appointments.

10. Put a public servant in charge. She brings experience as a physician and Ohio's health director—and a career centered on caring for people.

Vote for the judgment we need, the rights we deserve, and the public schools our children depend on. Vote Amy Acton.
